

New distribution of the French legislation for work-study schemes (September 5, 2018 bill “Act for the freedom to choose one’s own future career”)

By choosing to pay the training levy in France, your company supports quality training for our students and helps them meet their career goals. Contributions to work-study programmes and to the training levy have been merged into one single tax benefitting on-the-job training and work-study programmes, the CUFPA (Contribution Unique à la Formation Professionnelle et à l'Alternance). The amount of the fee is based on your company’s gross payroll (0,68%). Starting from 2022, the fee will be collected by the URSSAF (French agency for the collection of social security contributions) on the basis of a monthly declaration. Both declaration and payment should be completed online. The France Compétences agency is in charge of collecting the fee.

The training levy comes in two parts:

- One percentage goes to work-study schemes. Formerly known as the quota d'apprentissage, it amounts to 87% of the levy.fraction ;
- The remainder funds technical and hands-on training (excluding work-study schemes and other training schemes formerly known as “hors quota” or “barème”); this fraction amounts to 13% of the levy.

(Source : Extrait schéma CCI)

Work-study schemes objectives

Your financial support will allow us to:

- Facilitate the development of work-study schemes with our professional partners
- Train future professionals in the arts and cultural sector, or in the education and training sectors
- Invest in new educational methods, with a focus on digital tools
- Adapt our training offer to the up and coming jobs of the current socio-economic network

Payment Conditions of the training levy

The Institut Denis Diderot department of the INSPE offers full-time study schemes eligible for funding through the 13% percentage of your training levy (formerly known as the "hors quota" part). You can support us directly by paying the levy to:

- Université de Bourgogne – Département Denis Diderot (code UAI EF : 0211965X)

Please be sure to mention the name of the degree you'd like to subsidise:

- Master's DPEC: Direction de projets et d'établissements culturels (Cultural projects and institution management), with the Outreach management specialisation [code RNCP 34104] or with the Management of intercultural and international projects specialisation (IPII) [code RNCP 34104]; :
- Master's in Projects in International and European Cultural Engineering, with the Culture and Communication specialisation;
- Education sciences, with the Consulting advisor for training programmes specialisation (CCRF: Conseiller, Consultant, Responsable Formation) [code RNCP 31849].